Deceuninck introduces new PVC decking line

MONROE, Ohio — Deceuninck, which developed the first dual color, dual embossed vinyl decking in 2003, has introduced the Solstice™ low-maintenance cellular PVC decking line.

Durable planks are available in dual-color and dual-emboss with a hidden-fastening channel, or as single-color and dual-emboss 5/4" planks. This ultra-low maintenance decking comes in 8 shades with a limited lifetime warranty and 25-year fade and stain coverage.

The new Solstice low-maintenance cellular PVC decking line from Deceuninck combines performance with the look of exotic hardwood.

"Savvy homeowners will appreciate the combination of performance and elegance, with the unmistakable look of exotic hardwood," the company said. "Decking distributors and dealers will gravitate to the lifetime warranty and the economies of storing two decking colors in one stack."

The secret to the performance and aesthetics of Solstice is in the exclusive Korelite™ technology inside, which allows for superior flatness, dimensional consistency and strength, the company said. The dense cell structure eliminates the need for pre-drilling, and offers excellent fastener retention.

SunShield® vinyl capped co-extrusion from Deceuninck provides color retention, dimensional stability and impact resistance. This PVC decking has an elegant woodgrain embossed, low-gloss finish that is non-skid and water-resistant, and even the rich dark colors will stay cool under foot.

The PVC decking product line includes 4 pastel colors (Brookstone, Cobblestone, Sandstone and Clay) and 4 exotic hardwood colors (Mahogany, Walnut, Ipe and Ironwood).
