Kodiak Elite Railing System

with SunShield® Technology

Sun will destroy most finishes. Moisture will do its damage, too. But they can't harm the tough combination of fit and finish of Kodiak Elite Railing from Deceuninck. This railing has the look and feel of enameled wood, but without all the constant upkeep associated with wood and paint. No peeling paint. No scraping and sanding. And no refinishing—ever.

Smooth and elegant. Straight and unwavering.
And engineered to stay that way.

This railing is so fine,
you might think
it was for indoor use.
But it's designed for the rigors of the great outdoors.

Beautifully
engineered.

Longer-lasting than painted wood could ever be.

This code-approved railing system is designed to hold tough in any weather on single- and multi-family homes and even certain commercial applications. (Please refer to our technical & installation guide for specific information on products and code requirements.) It can transform any porch, balcony, deck or stairs with an artistic precision—where baluster spacing and placement is perfect, section after section, and each smooth, low-gloss surface matches the next. It all comes together quite nicely.

The Sun and UV rays will do the most to ruin your railing investment—unless it is manufactured with our exclusive SunShield® Technology.

SunShield® gives you real, time-tested color retention with superior stain, mold and mildew resistance.

We've taken low maintenance to new lows.

Kodiak Elite Railing keeps that brand-new appearance year after year, with little more than an occasional rinse with the hose.

We kept it all so simple.

Handrails have an elegant routed detail along the sides like expensive mouldings. There are similar details on the edges of our post sleeves and post skirts. There are not a lot of moving parts, and hardware stays out of sight, for a super-clean look.
